

Mark Connell

I am a Shareholder and Director of Amicus – a limited liability company that employs six Partners including myself and a number of associated Advisers and staff.

Amicus is in the business of helping our clients achieve their financial goals to increase their net wealth while providing security for those unforeseen happenings. We have a range of specialists in investment, life, health, and income insurance, general insurance, company and personal superannuation, and mortgages. As your Financial Adviser I can either assist you personally or, if appropriate, refer you to the relevant specialists.

I joined AMP as an Adviser in 1983 and have a current AMP Practising Certificate. In addition, I am a member of the FPIA and have a diploma of Life Assurance qualification. I keep my knowledge up to date by attending AMP “in-house” and industry training courses.
